

Access Microscholarship Program

Plans:

What will we discuss today?

- About visas
- What documents are needed for a visa?
- What is Form 082\Y?
- 5 reasons to use exchange programs:
- Benefits of an exchange student
- About the FLEX program

Visa for study abroad

The visa entitles the holder to travel to the United States of America and apply for an entry permit. The immigration officer at the port of entry determines whether the visa holder is qualified to enter the United States and determines the duration of their stay.

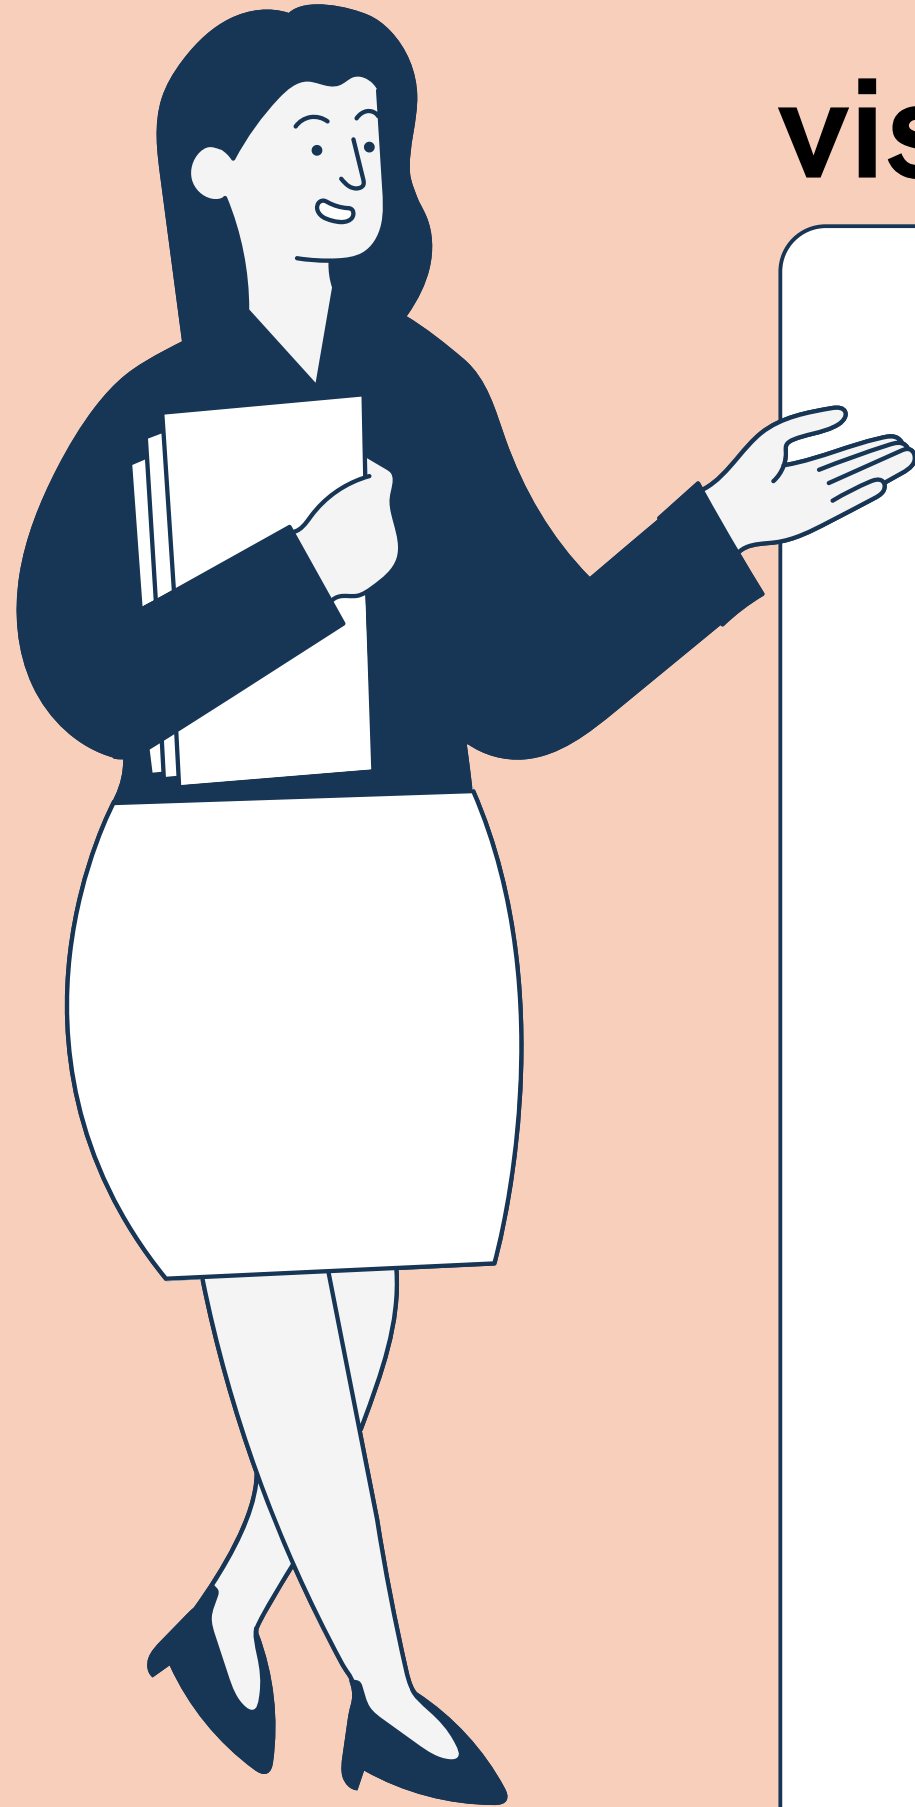

There are two types of visas and the first one is...

Nonimmigrant visas are for people who want to make a short trip to the US. However, they may travel to the United States on a tourist trip, business trip, medical treatment, temporary work, or study.

Immigrant visas are required for those who intend to move to the United States for permanent residence.

These documents are required for a US visa:

- International passport;
- 1 photograph 3.5x4.5 cm;
- Confirmation of an appointment for an interview;
- Confirmation of sending the questionnaire DS-160, with a barcode;
- Receipt of payment of the consular fee for machine processing;
- Certificate from the place of work, indicating the position, length of service and salary;
- Certificate of employment on payroll for the last six months;
- Vacation order;

What is Form 082/Y?

Form 082/Y - medical certificate for traveling abroad. The basis for issuing a certificate is the conclusion of the therapist that you are healthy and not a carrier of infectious diseases.

- The purpose of its registration is to protect the citizens of this state from the spread of diseases that you may be a carrier of.

5 reasons to use the exchange programs:

- 1. Go to the USA on privileged conditions
- 2. Get valuable experience.
- 3. Improve your language
- 4. Earn money.
- 5. Expanding the circle of friends.

Benefits of an exchange student

- Such experience helps the student to decide on the further direction in educational and scientific activities
- This gives them the opportunity to continue their studies abroad or start their career there.
- This is a great opportunity to adapt to its culture, traditions, local mentality, improve knowledge of a foreign language by communicating directly with native speakers, make foreign friends and, possibly, future colleagues.

FLEX Program:

There are so many universities, schools and colleges abroad for exchange. And for schoolchildren, the most popular and suitable program is FLEX.

- FLEX (future leaders exchange) is a non-profit exchange program for high school students. During this time, more than 22,000 high school students received scholarships to study in the United States.
- At the end of August, in the news section, you can see information about testing in your region. Officially competitive selection will begin in the fall.

Thank you for your attention!

