It is also referred as post-secondary education, third-stage, third-level, or tertiary education. It covers stages 5 to 8 on the International ISCED 2011 scale. It is delivered at 4,360 Title IV degree-granting institutions, known as colleges or universities. These may be public or private universities, research universities, liberal arts colleges, community colleges, or for-profit colleges. US higher education is loosely regulated by the government and by several third-party organizations.

HOW TO RESEARCH

Uniquely Comprehensive

Many sites show you only their advertisers – schools that pay them to recruit students. We show you our advertisers too – they pay the bills – but our search includes all of the US schools that accept international students, over 3,000 colleges and universities.

Uniquely Targeted

Some sites include many more schools, over 7,000, because they also show colleges that accept only US students. For international students all of these extra schools make the search useless – our USA School Search shows only those schools that accept international students.

Uniquely Functional

Search our database of schools by those criteria that matter most to you: degree programs, tuition range, location, public vs. private, religious affiliation, sports conferences or many more criteria.
