

How to choose good songs for learning

The best learning happens when we have fun. So it's really important to choose music that you like. The best songs for learning English are:

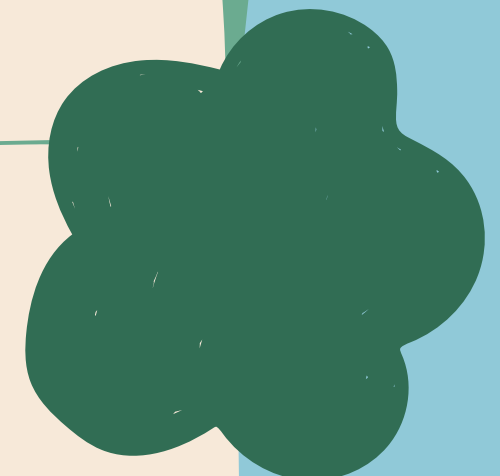

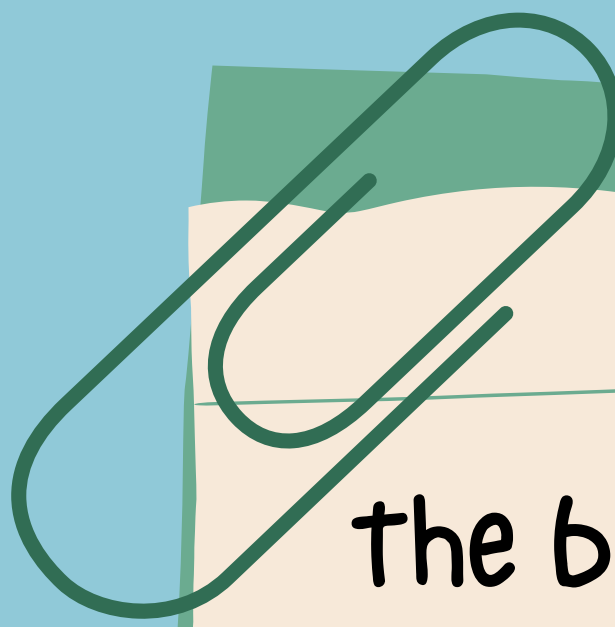

The best learning happens when we have fun. So it's really important to choose music that you like. The best songs for learning English are:

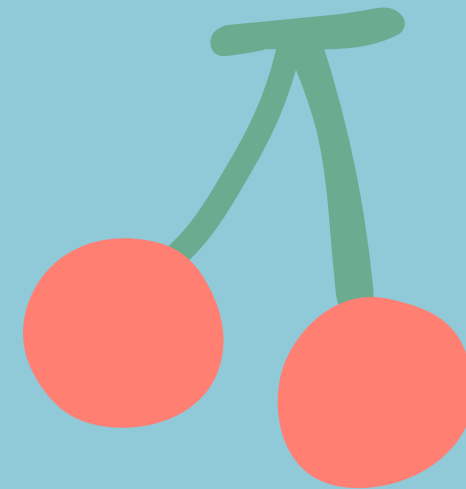

-
- not too long (1-3 verses)

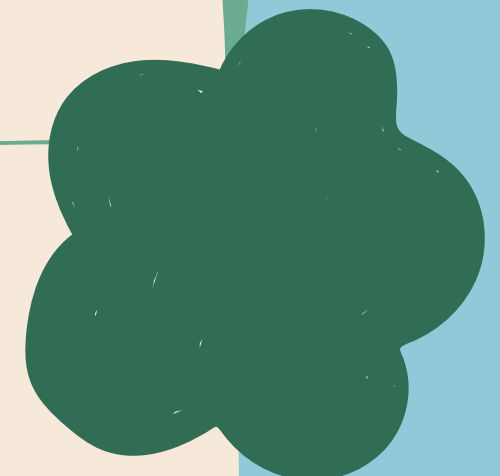

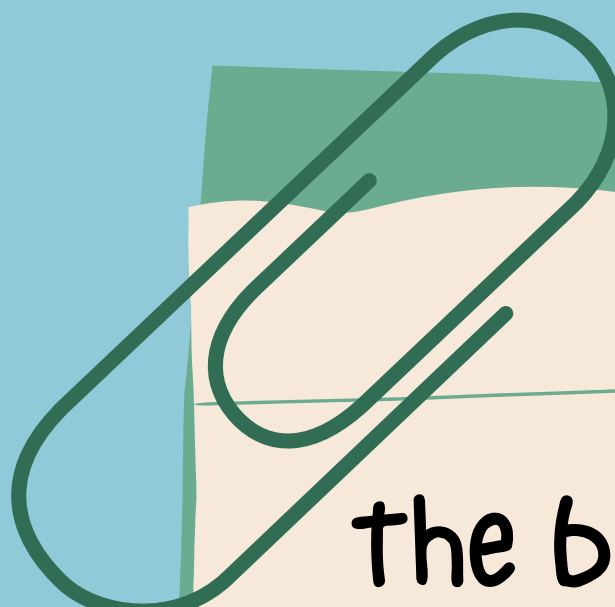

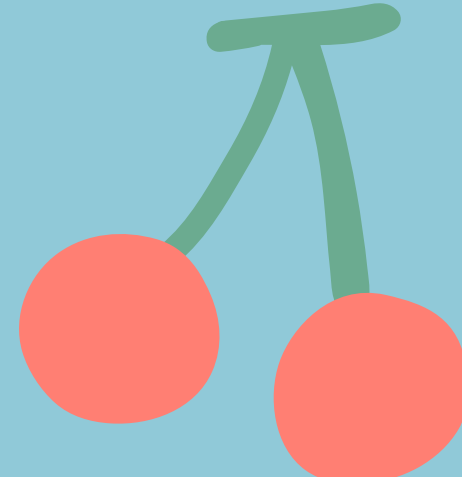

The best learning happens when we have fun. So it's really important to choose music that you like. The best songs for learning English are:

-
- not too long (1-3 verses)
  - not too fast (easy to sing along)

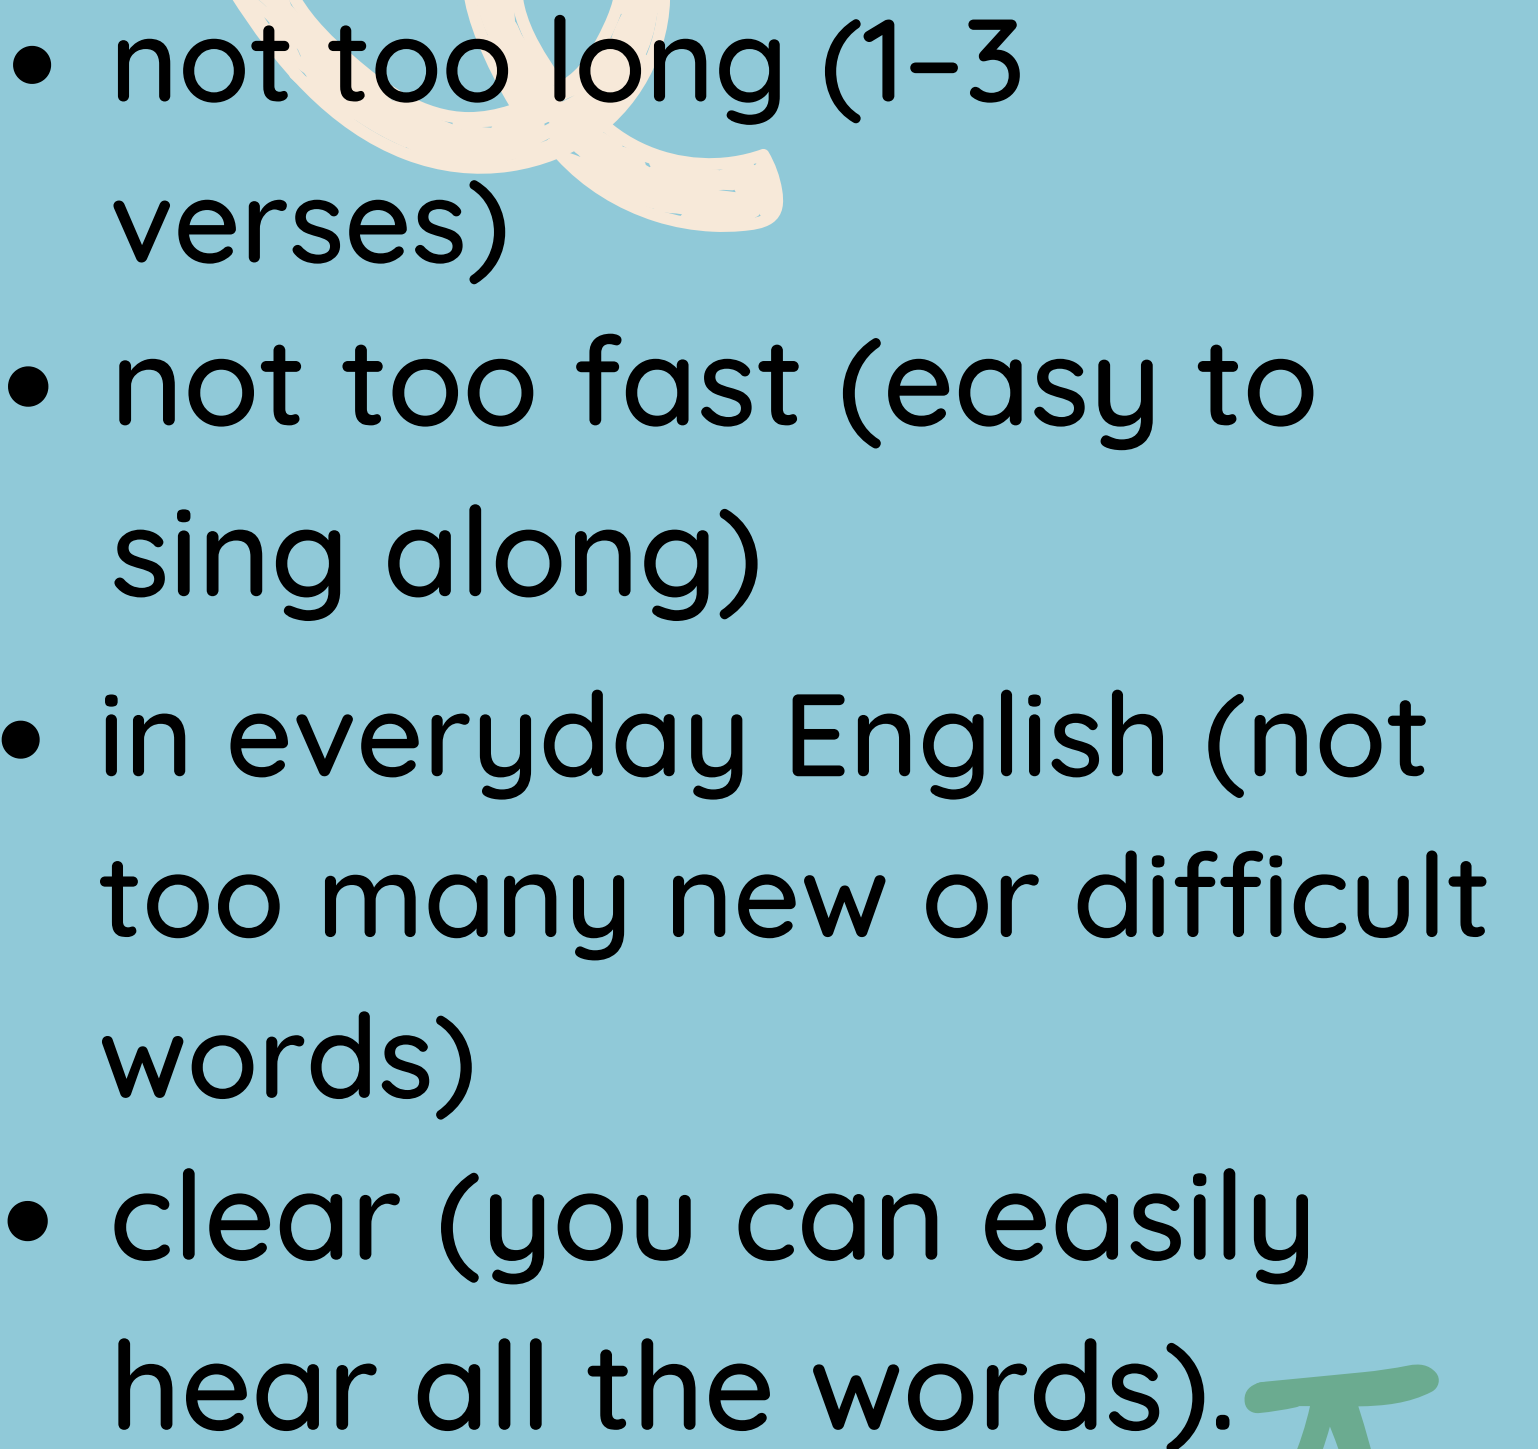

The best learning happens when we have fun. So it's really important to choose music that you like. The best songs for learning English are:

-
-
- not too long (1-3 verses)
  - not too fast (easy to sing along)
  - in everyday English (not too many new or difficult words)

The best learning happens when we have fun. So it's really important to choose music that you like. The best songs for learning English are:

-
- not too long (1-3 verses)
  - not too fast (easy to sing along)
  - in everyday English (not too many new or difficult words)
  - clear (you can easily hear all the words).

Learning tip for 5-12
year olds or beginners

Learning tip for 5–12 year olds or beginners

Choose songs with lots of rhyming words and rhythms that repeat. This makes it easier for children to learn new words and start singing along.

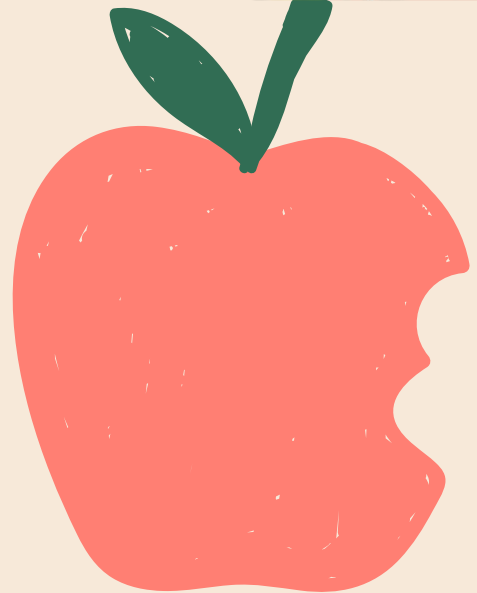

The Sing and Learn videos from Cambridge English are an ideal way to learn, remember and use new language.

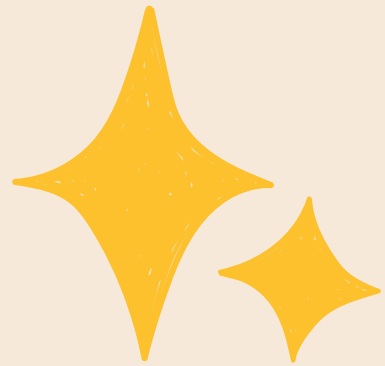

If it's difficult for you to sing along the usual pop songs, you could also try singing along to nursery songs. You can practise lots of different vocabulary.

Learning tip for 13–18 year olds

For teenagers, learning through songs is a great opportunity to combine their interests and learning the language. If you are interested in a song, you will be determined to understand it.

Learning tip

for 13-18

year olds

Learning tip for 13–18 year olds

Remind yourself that pop songs sometimes use informal, everyday language. It's important to understand that English is used differently in different situations. For example, the English in pop songs probably wouldn't be right in formal writing.

